Writing

To begin with, I think he have meant that without hard work + talent can't make ~~some~~ anybody successful. Also talent is cheap because you don't need to do anything to get it. And hard work is much more expensive in energy and time.

To be honest, I agree with that. If a talented person won't work hard enough, they won't get fame and won't be remembered. It can be easily proved by trying to remember someone from history who was talented and not successful by any means. I can't remember anyone who fits this description.

But I remember that talented hard working successful people are very known nowadays. The perfect example is Elon Musk. He appears to be one of the most authoritative people on Earth. To become such powerful person he worked really hard and now everyone know his name. Similar example but more local is Russian poet Alexander Sergeyevich Pushkin. He's famous back then and people still read his art.

In conclusion, I want to say that talent can help you to become successful, but without hard work you won't be able to do it.

Оценочные баллы: максимальный – 15 баллов; фактический – 10 баллов.
